

MSc/GradDip World Heritage Management & Conservation

One Year Full-Time or Two Years Part-Time

(Non-EU/EEA students full-time only due to immigration regulations)

Introduction

At present, the Convention concerning the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage is considered one of the most effective global instruments to protect natural and cultural properties. With increasing globalisation of heritage the conservation and management of World Heritage has emerged as an interdisciplinary field of study. This is creating new opportunities for inclusive heritage debate and dialogue, both locally and globally, which require common tools and understanding. This MSc in World Heritage Management & Conservation is for applicants motivated to protect and conserve world, natural and cultural heritage.

This MSc provides a thorough knowledge of the World Heritage Convention and its application in solving heritage conservation problems. It will equip you with the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary to develop a career or to up-skill your professional experience in the development of management and conservation strategies for the protection of heritage. The programme will examine management and preparedness strategies in response to threats to heritage such as unsustainable tourism activities, climate change and natural disasters as well as tackling issues such as stakeholder identification and participation, conflicting values and sustainable development.

"The World Heritage Management course is an interdisciplinary programme which enhances interaction between nature, culture and people."

"Through this course, I was able to develop practical skills, pedagogic proficiency and theoretical insights on aspects that make up this interaction. The course included approaches to working in and sharing experiences with other students. This has improved my communication skills and enhanced my ability to craft solutions to various conservation challenges."
