<h3>General Information</h3>
The WST Summer School sessions return from July 1-3.

```

WST Summer School is where we invite you to participate in one of our small hands on peer-to-peer sessions to learn some information from your colleagues across the organisation.

<h3>What does that mean?</h3>

Each session is hosted by a colleague within the organisation who has a skill set, a process or some insight that they are happy to share outside of the normal training offerings. Groups for the sessions are purposely small so that the facilitator can spend time engaging with the participants about the session topic. Participants will be contacted in advance and asked to prepare a relevant example or have real life work that the facilitator can help them with during the session to make sure they get the most value from participating. By hosting these small numbers, attendees will get to focus on their particular learning; be able to implement the information in real time and learn from the experiences and questions of the group.

These are hands on sessions where you will be asked to work with examples. Participants will be asked to prepare these examples or bring elements to work with during the sessions.

<h3>Sessions Offered:</h3>

To help identify which session might be most valuable to you they are described with

Getting the most out of your Workvivo Space ^{by}

- an outline of the offering
- the type of problem the session will address
- what type of person or role would get the most value from the session

<h3>Logistics</h3>

All sessions will be held in UCD Agile, Ardmore Annex unless otherwise flagged.

They are approximately 60 minutes each unless otherwise flagged.

In advance of each session there will be a 30 minutes meet and greet with tea/coffee and pastries for an opportunity to meet your colleagues and facilitator. This will take place in the Agile space.

It helps transform vague hunches into viable ideas by evaluating feasibility and impact, encouraging effective collaboration and feedback, and streamlining decision-making processes. Participants will save time and enhance decision quality, benefiting from diverse perspectives and ensuring their ideas are both creative and practical. Ultimately, the session empowers individuals to refine their initial ideas into well-thought-out, impactful "super hunches", making them more likely to succeed in their respective areas.
